EDITORIAL.

Our Annual Convention is near at hand. It is one of the bright spots in life's journey, when we can meet our brothers face to, face, the warm grasp of the hand, the pleasant smile, when we feel that the heart goes with the hand. It makes us feel that there is still something in life worth living for. "For we are comrades sharing each others sorrow, sharing each others joys."

During the past winter, pneumonia and la grippe were the prevailing diseases, but our members on the firing line met the two diseases and conquered them.

We have every reason to be proud of the success of some of our members in the medical treatment of Cancer and Consumption, as well as ether diseases that have been called incurable. Only the Recording Angel above knows how many precious lives have been saved during the past year by the skillful treatment of our members. It shows what can be accomplished by men who are in earnest, whose heart and souls are in the grand work of saving human life. "For in nothing do men come so near the divine as in giving health to their fellow men."

During the past year, out of thousands of letters. I have received from all Schools of Medicine, not an unkind word has been written me about our Association. The great mass of our Profession see the need of such an organization, that will bring together the best men of all Schools of Medicine,-with one object in view, to find the most definite means of healing the sick. It also proves to my mind that "God will have it so," that His hand is guiding us, and if "God be for us, who can be against us?" We bear no malice toward any body of Medical men; we are not taking up our time in glorifying any ism or pathy, but will spend the time of the Convention in helping each other to be better physicians; It is God's work, for it means the lessening of morality,-the saving of human life.

The President will take a trip up the Hudson to Poughkeepsie, Monday afternoon, Sept. 1st;. leave foot of Desbrosses St., New York City, at 1: 45 p. m., arrive in Poughkeepsie at 6: 45 p. m. It will be a splendid chance to see the Hudson river-"The Rhine of America" in day-light. It will be something worth remembering in years to come.

"Let us pluck the pleasures of the passing hour, mindful how short is the sum of human life."-
Horace.

The "Program" and the announcement of the "Entertainment Committee" occupy so much space in this number of the Bulletin, that we can only find space for a few "Therapeutic Facts." It was thought best to publish the pre gram in the Bulletin, instead of publishing it in a separate form. No more copies of the Bulletin will be published until after the Convention in September. It will then be decided by the Association, whether the Bulletin shall be published in its present form or not, and under the same Editorial Management.

I have at different times warned the profession that the adoption of the serum treatment for disease was a fearful mistake. One of the strongest arguments ever brought against our Profession by the Drugless Healers, is that lithe Doctors themselves have no faith in their remedies." In their printed matter for public distribution, they publish page after page of quotations from prominent physicians, showing their lack of confidence in drugs to heal the sick. The adoption of the serum treatment for the sick is a confession of weakness of our inability to heal the sick by medicine. It only confirms what the Drugless Healers have often boasted, that the doctors have lost faith in drugs to heal the sick. Thus it is that a certain class of our profession have played right into the hands of the Drugless Healers.

In my time I have studied about all the different forms of Drugless Healing, with an un prejudiced, mind, to find something that would help me in my work of healing the sick, but I have found by careful study and experience that every form of drugless healing has its limitations. Their success in healing the sick cannot be compared with the Physician who knows the Materia Medica of all Schools of Medicine. I have practiced along side of many of the practitioners of different forms of drugless healing, and I do not fear competition with any form of drugless healing. I absolutely believe in the curative powers of drugs to heal the sick, just as much as I believe in an overruling Providence. If I did not, my conscience would not let me practice Medicine a single day.

If our Medical Colleges had taught all their students the definite action of remedies, and to have faith in their remedies, if they had taught them a definite treatment for every disease common to our country, there never would have been such a thing as Drugless Healers in the U. S. If our Profession want to hold the confidence of the public, they must be able to prove to them that they are competent to heal the sick.

Among the distinguished physicians that will attend our, next Convention will be Dr. E. H. Pratt of Chicago, Ill., the father of Orificial Surgery, and Honorary President "American Association of Orificial Surgeons."

Three lectures a day will be given from the Post-Graduate Course. For the first time in medical history, a Medical Society will have a Post Graduate Course of Lectures by prominent physicians from all the different Schools of Medicine, something never before attempted in this or any other country. We lead, others follow!

WE EXPECT YOU AT POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., FOR THE SECOND ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE, SEPTEMBER 1ST.

WHERE and HOW-Poughkeepsie is on the east bank of the Hudson River, $7\frac{3}{4}$ miles north of New York and $69\frac{1}{2}$ miles south of Albany, by rail. From the west it can be reached by the New York Central Lines (Big Four) via Albany, N. Y., and from the west and south by any of the various trunk lines terminating at New York. From the east member's can come direct from Hartford to Poughkeepsie by the Central New England R. R.; by the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. or boat from Boston, Fall River and Hartford, to New York, or by the Boston & Albany R. R., via Albany. Once reaching New York or Albany, two ways are open, New York Central Railroad or the Hudson River Day Line Steamers. From either New York or Albany and from $4\frac{1}{2}$ to 5 hours by steamer. Through to Poughkeepsie takes about two hours by rail railroad tickets are accepted usually on the Hudson River Day Line Steamers. Steamers leave Desbrosses St. Pier, New York, 8:40 a. m., 9:40 a. m. and 1:45 p. m., arriving Poughkeepsie at 1: 15, 2: 35 and 6: 45 p. m., respectively. Steamer leaves Albany 8: 30 a. m., arriving Poughkeepsie 1:20 p. m. Boats run daily, excepting Sunday. There is probably no more beautiful or enjoyable river sail in the country than from either New York or Albany to Poughkeepsie on the Hudson River, which has been so aptly described as "The Rhine of America." Starting from New York you pass most of the length of Manhattan Island and obtain a comprehensive view of New York's famous sky-line. Riverside Drive and Grant's Tomb next follow into view and then for several miles on the west side of the river, the Palisades. On both sides of the river, all the way, lie towns and points rich in historical interest and natural beauty. In three hours time you have passed Storm King Mountain and Anthony's Nose, also the point where the water from New York, having been carried for a distance of about 60 miles from the Catskill region, is siphoned under the Hudson and stored in reservoirs, extending from that point almost to the city itself, an engineering feat second only to the construction of the Panama Canal. The boat lands at West Point and the Academy buildings are in plain view from the deck. A few miles above Newburgh, the famous Poughkeepsie Bridge, the highest double-tracked cantilever bridge in the world comes into sight. A point a mile this side (south) of the bridge marks the finish line of the Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta. About opposite on the east shore is Vassar Hospital, founded and named after Matthew Vassar, who was also the founder of Vassar College. This is the regular city hospital, although it is expected that, in the course of a year or so another will be under construction. The large square red brick building a little farther north is Riverview Academy, a preparatory school of long and high standing.

In the sail down the river from Albany, the Catskill Mountains, stretching back into the country to the west and for many miles paralleling the river, are the main points of interest. Just before reaching Poughkeepsie" about 2 miles north, you will see what most travelers take to be Vassar College. This is the Hudson River State Hospital for the Insane, a large and well equipped institution, almost a city in itself. A little farther on and on the line with the Poughkeepsie Bridge, referred to above, is a large white building situated on a high hill. This is College Hill Park presented to the city some years ago by Mr. William W. Smith, whose cough-drops are no doubt familiar to you. Just before landing, the boat passes under the Bridge. For the last three miles your course has been parallel to the first three miles of the four-mile course of the Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta along the west bank.

HOTELS-The two principal hotels of Poughkeepsie are the Nelson House and the Morgan House. These can be reached within a few minutes from the railroad station or boat-landing by trolley or by taxicab. If the former method is used, any car at station or boat landing may be taken. The Nelson House is on Market street, one block south of Main Street; the rates here are $3.00 and $3.50 per day. The Morgan House is on the corner of Main and Catherine streets; the rates are $3.50 single, and $3.00 double, per day. Both Hotels are on the American Plan and are within five minutes walking distance from the Masonic Temple, To be assured of the maximum of comfort and satisfaction on your accommodations, we suggest that you make your reservations as early as you can do so conveniently, as the Dutchess County Fair is the same week as the Convention.

POINTS OF INTEREST.-Within a ten-minute walk from your hotel are, Vassar Hospital; Riverview Academy, established 1836; Eastman Business College, one of the best institutions of its kind in the world; Eastman Park, formerly the estate of the founder of Eastman College, now a city park and recreation field.

A short trolley ride will take you to Vassar College; to College Hill Park, where you can get a bird's eye view of the City, the Poughkeepsie Bridge, and of the country for miles around, to the Fishkill Mountains on the south, the Catskills on the north and the Berkshires on the east; to the Fiat Automobile Works (American Factory); to the Hudson River State Hospital for the Insane; and to the Hudson River Driving Park, where the annual fair of the Dutchess County Agricultural Society will be in progress. Lake Mohawk can be reached by trolley over the Bridge to New Paltz, thence by carriage up the mountain. Beginning at Hyde Park (New York Central or Automobile Stage) 6 miles north of Poughkeepsie are the Vanderbilt, Huyler, Ogden Mills, Astor and other large country estates.

MASONIC TEMPLE-The Masonic Temple, where the business, professional and committee meetings of the Convention will be held, is on Cannon street, directly opposite and facing Liberty street, 1 1/2 blocks from the Nelson House and two blocks from the Morgan House. Besides the above-mentioned purpose, the Temple will also be used as a general "get together" place during the Convention. The Executive Committee has invited several drug, food and instrument manufacturers and dealers to exhibit their products at the Temple while the Convention is on. It is hoped that the members attending will show the kind of interest in the goods exhibited that this support of the Association, by the exhibitors, merits.

THE DOINGS-The Convention will open, unofficially, on Monday evening, September 1st, when Dr. and Mrs. Horace R. Powell will hold an informal reception at their home, 92 Cannon St., at 8 p. m., in honor of Dr. Eli G. Jones, President of the American Association of Progressive Medicine, and Mrs. Jones. We urge all members who can possibly do so to plan to arrive in time for the reception that evening, as it will be, not only an opportunity to show their regard for the Doctor, but also an excellent chance to get acquainted personally all-around before the Convention actually starts and the strenuous work begins.

As all work and no play makes Jack, John, Bill and the other fellow a dull boy, we shall endeavor, whenever time allows, to sandwich in some form of diversion. Owing to the uncertainty of determining in advance the amount of time needed for the serious work of the Convention, it is impossible to plan ahead as to just when we may play and how long. Be that as it may, if the spirit is there the means will be forthcoming. An automobile tour of Poughkeepsie and vicinity, with stops at various points of interest, is assured through the kindness of Mr. Charles Morschauser, a leading lawyer and citizen. Doctor, it makes little difference how you look at it, you simply cannot afford to miss this Convention. Where will you have as good a chance to get in direct personal touch with as many progressive medical men or to absorb as many progressive medical ideas? Possibly, some sacrifice may be necessary to enable you to get to Poughkeepsie-it's worth it, as a short space of time will show. Look at the matter in the light of an investment, not as an expenditure of time, money and effort.

Come! It will rejuvenate your body, your brain and your practice! One thing more as soon as you decide definitely-please notify Dr. W. E. Bremser, Secretary, 1525 Franklin avenue, St. Louis, Mo., of your intention.

See you at Poughkeepsie, the night of September 1st.

Horace R. Powell, M. D., Chairman. W. G. Jefferson, M. D.

Fred Carter, M. D. Entertainment Committee.

Unfinished Business.

F 18. CEREBRO-SPINAL MENINGITIS.

There are very many deaths from this disease and, thus far, the much vaunted serum for the cure of it has proved a delusion and a snare. "Definite Medication" gives a plain simple treatment for this disease. If our Doctors would use this treatment, it would lessen the mortality of victims from Cerebro-spinal Meningitis, and prove a great blessing.

F 19. SURGICAL TREATMENT OF CANCER.

We read in the daily press, articles from prominent surgeons, telling the public that they have found a cure for Cancer, but it is the same old chestnut, that the only cure for Cancer is an early operation. This is done to deceive the public, and to prevent them from going to a physician who can cure them by medicine. If a surgical operation would cure Cancer, the disease would not be constantly on the increase, and there would not be 75,000 deaths from Cancer every year. The growth we find is only the effect; back of that lies the cause. Dr. John Hunter, one of the greatest surgeons England ever had, defines what we mean by a cure of Cancer. He says, "What I call a cure, is an alteration of the disposition, and the effect of that disposition, and not the destruction of the cancerous parts."

This is my idea exactly, and is what I have been teaching for many years. Cancer is the local manifestation of a blood or constitutional disease. It cannot be cured by any form of local treatment. The Doctors who are curing Cancer today, and have been curing it for the past 30 years are treating it as a constitutional disease. To guarantee to cure any case of Cancer by surgical means is the worst form of quackery. The day will come when it will be considered a crime to cut out a Cancer.

F 20. EQUALIZE THE CIRCULATION.

One of the things that was frequently impressed upon my mind in student days, was this: In many cases, I was taught that the first thing to do was to equalize the circulation. I heard so much about it that it became a by-word to us students. But in after years, in daily practice, I saw the importance of it. Many a time it has helped to cure an obstinate obscure case. If we learn Veratrum Viride, by its full bounding beats with tension. That kind of a pulse means Veratrum wherever you find it, and you will meet such cases every day. The Veratrum will relax the capillaries, and equalize the circulation as well as relieve the nerve tension. I give it in the Ix dil., 5 drops once an hour for 3 doses, then once in 3 hours. One or Mix. Sig. Teaspoonful every 2 hours in hot water. If patient is feverish, give Ferri Phos. 3x every 3 hours. Have the patient keep off his feet, and apply compresses of that solution of Epsom Salt over the bladder. This treatment will relieve.

F 26. HYSTERIA.

Attacks of Hysteria frequently met with in females, produce consternation in the household and neighborhood, and cause the physician to give unnecessary time to the patient. Indicated remedies frequently give no results, or at the best incomplete ones. I have never failed to break up the "spells" with hypodermic injection of I-10th gr. of Apomorphine Hydrachloride. Give the "hypo" and ask for a wash basin, if it will hold sufficient. The relaxation following will better permit the absorption of the indicated remedy. Assure the patient that your treatment will prove successful. Repeat the hypo with every convulsion, possibly in smaller dose. Don't forget Magnesium Sulphate, outside and inside. You will succeed, but the patient will possibly "sour on you."

F 27. IVY POISONING.

Sweet spirits of nitre applied over surface. Repeat when dry. This is a sure remedy.

F 28. TAPE WORM.

Chew one cup of pumpkin seed in the morning on an empty stomach, and follow with a dose of Castor Oil about an hour later. This will never fail, it will bring head and all.

F 29. GASTRIC CRAMPS.

When called at night from a sound sleep to relieve some sufferer from this painful trouble, do not forget Lloyd's Tr. Dioscorea, one dram in hot water once in 15 minutes. Three doses will suffice to put the patient to sleep. Also do not forget to place a mustard plaster over the stomach and another on the spine, so as to influence the Solar Plexus. I made ten dollars in one night lately, by this bit of practice. (Results is what brings the dollars.)-Editor.

F 30. BURNS.

Carbolized Epsom Salt solution makes a splendid soothing, healing and clean application to all kinds of burns. I use it thus: Epsom Salts, one ounce; Phenol, 16 gtt.; hot water, one pint. It is ideal.

F 31. CHRONIC CATARRH.

The Bulletin is full of good, practical points. I consider that the Membership fee is well offset by "Fact D. 74 in No. 8." Sulphacarbolate of Soda in Chronic Catarrh. This condition is one that usually successfully treated, yet one for which we are frequently consulted.

Its successful treatment, including Kali Bichromate 3x in cases where "clogs" continually form, will attract appreciative sufferers, and naturally add to the income of the Doctor.

F 32. TEETHING.

I am frequently consulted by parents of teething children. For the relief of the nervous symptoms, and the promotion of practically painless teething. This I am able to meet with Calcarea Carb. and Calcarea Phos. The former in blondes, the latter in brunettes, giving 12x, tablets, 2 every 2 hours.

F 33. ITCHING OF ECZEMA, TO RELIEVE.

Apply to the area involved, a hot solution made with antiseptic soap, hot as can be tolerated, then apply compress of pure Bay-rum; follow this by dusting a powder of Campho-phenique or Boracic acid. Bay-rum is superior to Alcohol, and Campho-phenique powder surpasses it in therapeutic properties.

F 34. CATARRHAL JAUNDICE.

Compound Flext. Gentian in full doses, one-half to one dram every three hours will clear up the Catarrhal Jaundice in from one to three weeks.

F 35. NEURALGIA OF THE HEART.

When the pain seems to start from the heart, and radiates out through the breast, and down the left arm; there is palpitation, and the patient is worse on the slightest movement, give Spigelia 3x dil. 20 drops in half glass of water, teaspoonful every half hour.

F 36. CONSTIPATION.

Try a pill of Hydrastin gr. I-4th, Podophyllin gr. I-8th, Strychnine gr. 1-60th, Mix. Sig. One pill night and morning.

F 37. SHOCK.

Always lower the head in this condition, and do so by raising the foot of the bed 12 inches. Apply hot water bottles to limbs. Give internally the following: Glonoin 2-250th grain in hot water, and then when you feel the pulse come up under its influence, follow with ten minims of Ergot. Do this every three hours. If the pulse goes down between these periods, give teaspoonful of Aromatic Spirits Ammonia in a little brandy. Do this every hour if necessary. It is a life saver.

F 38. MENORRHAGIA.

Sp. Blackhaw, one dram.
Sp. Cinnamon, one-half dram. Glycerin, one ounce.
Aqua dist. q. s., four ounces.
Mix. Sig. One dram every half hour to two hours.

F 39. SENILE KERATOSIS.

Make one or two applications, about two or three weeks apart of solid carbon dioxide stick, 30 seconds with medium pressure.

Specific Medicines

Are not common TINCTURES, nor are they FLUID EXTRACTS. Physicians prescribing the Specific Medicines should not use the term "TINCTURE," in referring to these remedies, nor should they abbreviate the name to SP. TR.

The established abbreviation for the Specific Medicines is SP. MED. If a physician who desires the Specific Medicines writes in his prescription "Tr., Echinacea," or "Tr. Gelsemium," he need blame only himself when he gets something he does not want, instead of the Specific Medicines. If a physician writes SP. MED. the party who supplies him with any 1 substance other than the SPECIFIC MEDICINE, is guilty of SUBSTITUTION.

If an author or contributor uses the name Specific Medicine, or the abbreviation Sp. Med., the person who in print changes this to Tincture, or Tr., is not less guilty than a substituting pharmacist, and is responsible for an injury that may result to the patient, as well as the wrong done an innocent apothecary or physician.

The Specific Medicines are Made by

LLOYD BROTHERS

CINCINNATI. OHIO and in original packages may be obtained of all American pharmacists.
